DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-18 and 29-50, drawn to a method, program storage device readable by a machine, tangibly embodying a program of instructions executable by the machine, and a system for handling logins for users, classified in class 709, subclass 227.
 - II. Claims 19-28, drawn to a method and a program storage device readable by a machine, tangibly embodying a program of instructions executable by the machine configured to periodically check to see if a network access server has become non-operational, classified in class 709, subclass 224.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as periodically checking to see if a network access server has become non-operational and removing all user identification value entries from a master list associated with the non-operational network access server. See MPEP § 806.05(d).
3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 2142

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group II is not required for Group I, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
